The melody can be sung by a solo voice or performed on an instrument. The rhythm should be free.

The other parts can be sung by a mixed choir, or by a male choir. Men should sing in falsetto whenever necessary, in order to ensure that sounds in the higher ranges do not become tense. The parts can be sung by choir or vocal ensemble.

The lower parts are sung on different vowels. Each singer should change vowels to ensure that as many different vowels as possible are sung at the same time by the different singers. The lower parts can also be performed on instruments.

The composition should be sung through only once.
