Thula Thu'

Thula thu' thula mntwana,
thula sana.
Thul' umam' uzofika ekuseni.

Khukh 'inkanyezi eholol' ubaba,
Imkhanyisel' indleziy' ekhaya.

Hush hush my child, hush my dearest.
Quiet now, your mother will be here
in the morning.

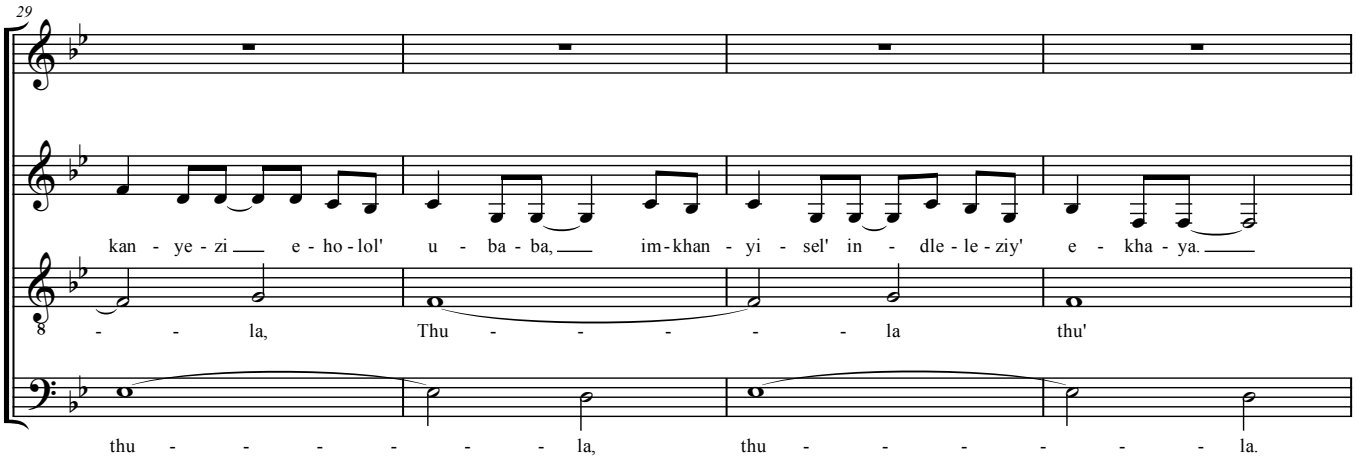

There is a light drawing you,
Showing you the way home.

From here to the end, the choir divides into three mixed choirs, more or less equal.
The first of the small choirs sing the music as notated to the end.
The second of the small choirs sustain the chord marked as '1' while the first small choir continues with the music. The second of the small choirs sustain the chord only until their breaths run out, and then remains silent.
The third of the small choirs start with chord '1', then sing chord '2' and sustain the chord while the first choir sings the music, and while the second choir sustains chord 1. They also sustain the chord until their breaths run out, and then remains silent.

Duration: c. 3 minutes

For all the wonderful singers who are studying at the School of Music at the North-West University's Potchefstroom Campus.
